Jamie Ozga

Assistant Principal-Teaching & Learning
Berry Street School

Jamie is currently the Assistant Principal - Teaching and Learning at the Berry Street School. Jamie has a strong passion for social justice, working with culturally and linguistically diverse and marginalised young people. Jamie is deeply committed to providing the best possible educational outcomes to all young people that meets their individual needs and is directed to the development of their full human personality.

In this Pecha Kucha* keynote presentation, Jamie will explore thinking about the future we want for education, how to respond to current and emerging trends, and address tensions and dilemmas in creating a future of education that empowers all.

*What is Pecha Kucha? Pecha Kucha's 20x20 presentation format shows 20 images, each for 20 seconds. A presenter has just under 7 minutes to tell a story, with visuals guiding the way.

A great way to avoid death by PowerPoint!
