Webinar

Self-Regulated Learning with Dr Shyam Barr

Dr. Shyam Barr is an education consultant, coach, and speaker with over 15 years of experience in education. He focuses on helping educators foster students' metacognition and self-regulated learning (SRL). Shyam's research considers educational leaders' and teachers' knowledge, beliefs, and practices related to SRL, and how innovative professional education can bring sustained improvements to schools.

In this Webinar, Shyam will make a compelling case for reimagining education and will offer practical solutions for a more holistic approach that empowers students to thrive in the real world. This talk is a must-watch for anyone interested in education reform and the future of learning.

Date Tuesday 2nd May
Time 4.30pm – 5.00pm (AEST)

Thought Leader in Residence

Principals

In Residence

Future Schools

Rob Houben | Live from The Netherlands
Thurs 11th May | 7pm – 8pm (AEST)
Hosted by Peter Hutton

Session 1 of 2

Thought Leader in Residence with Rob Houben, hosted by Peter Hutton – part 1

Participants will join Rob and Peter Hutton for two fireside chats over the course of Term 2.

These in depth conversations, hosted on Zoom, will explore the latest practice in future-focused education, the research that supports Rob's thinking, and give space for you to discuss your own opportunities, all with a nice red wine in hand.

Rob specialises in self-determination theory, personalising education and was instrumental in building new courses for the Dutch National Curriculum.

Rob is a key leader for Agora, a secondary school that started in 2015 with just 5 colleagues and 60 students. Now, there are 20 Agora schools across The Netherlands, leading the way in future-focused schooling.
